

Chloe Mulvaugh has been a resident of North Tonawanda for the past six years. She and her husband, Michael (a career firefighter for the City of North Tonawanda) have three children. Chloe's eight year old daughter is enrolled in 3rd grade at Ohio Elementary School. Her two step-children attend elementary schools in the Lancaster School District.

Chloe is actively involved in her childrens' activities ranging from dance, roller hockey, soccer and gymnastics. In addition, Chloe and her husband own a small family business together during the warmer months. This business affords her the ability to work and connect with families within their home setting. Chloe describes her summer business as "...having the opportunity to collaborate with families on a more personal level. I enjoy making parents and their children smile."

Chloe is currently working as a Licensed Practical Nurse at UB Neurosurgery, a fast-paced medical facility located in Williamsville. She has been a nurse for the past seven years, and has worked in multiple facets of the nursing profession. Chloe received several academic awards throughout her nursing education, including the Erie 1 Boces Excellence Award, and graduated from the program as Valedictorian of her class. This was achieved despite the additional obstacles of raising her daughter as a single mother and working part-time. Despite these challenges, Chloe persevered. Effective time management, adaptability and organizational skills became strengths for Chloe.

Chloe Mulvaugh strongly believes that schools should maintain a safe and healthy environment for every child while in school. She states, "There should be a zero-tolerance policy for any and all types of bullying that happen within the schools. Children, no matter what age, should be able to freely express themselves without the fear of being bullied."
